WRITER'S DIRECT DIAL (202)

ADM Stansfield Turner, USN [Ret.]
Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Admiral Turner,

Although I am sure that you already have innumerable demands upon your time, I do hope you will respond favorably to this invitation. As a student in the Strategy and Policy core of the Naval War College Graduate Study Seminar Program, I have been attempting to assist my professor in exposing the students in the course to the wide range of knowledge and experience available in the Washington area by having guest lecturers in various fields address the seminars. We recently had former DCI William Colby with us to discuss the Cold War and Vietnam.

Because our very program is a result of your efforts while President of the College, and since your name is so closely associated with the topic of the changing missions of the navy and its effects on foreign policy, we hope you will be able to lecture to the students in the program.

The usual format is for the lecturer to address his remarks to the class for approximately an hour, and then respond to their questions for another hour. At various times we have added a luncheon or dinner to the program, or shifted the site of the lecture to accommodate the speaker.

The time frame under consideration for this topic would stretch approximately from the beginning of May into the first week of June. I realize this allows very little leeway regarding schedules, and we would all understand if you are unable to find the time given the short notice and the concurrent demands upon your services. If you are able to address the seminar, I would be more than happy to provide whatever assistance and materials you would require.

Please feel free to contact me at your convenience regarding this request, and I thank you in advance for considering it.

Respectfully,

Dear Lieutenant Lynch,

Admiral Turner has asked that I respond to your invitation to him to address the Naval War College Graduate Study Seminar.

While Admiral Turner is inclined to acceptance, he regrets that he is unable to do so for the next several months.

May I suggest that you check back with me in the Fall of 1980 for possible participation in the program.

Sincerely,

Special Assistant to the Director
